GNAS OPEN HEAD-TO-HEAD TOURNAMENTS
Lilleshall NSC — Saturday 28th / Sunday 29th June 2003
COMPETITION FORMAT (1)

Some potential entrants may not have experienced head-to-head competition before, and even fewer will have participated in a team head-to-head. We therefore provide a brief overview of how both individual and team Olympic round head-to-heads work, including notes on how we plan to run these particular events.

GENERAL

All competitors are asked to register before equipment inspection / practice on both days, at which time they will be able to confirm their target allocation. Please bring GNAS (or other FITA member association) cards as proof of membership.

For all competitors, the entire competition will be shot at 70m on the 122cm target face.

FITA 70M RANKING ROUND (both days)

The FITA 70m round consists of 72 arrows, shot as 12 ends of 6 arrows in 4 minutes. There will be three archers per target, with all competitors shooting simultaneously in a single detail under the central control of the Director of Shooting.

After completing this ranking round, all competition will take place on the targets to the right of the Director of Shooting's tent. The targets to the left of the DoS's tent will be available for practice, and will follow the same time control as the competitive matches.

OLYMPIC ROUND HEAD-TO-HEADS — GENERAL

Olympic round head-to-head tournaments involve several rounds of knockout matches, where winning archers / teams advance through a series of first Elimination round and subsequently Finals round matches, culminating in the Bronze and Gold Medal Finals.

All archers / teams completing each day's ranking round will participate in that day's Olympic round and experience that form of head-to-head competition for themselves. Rather than eliminating the lowest-ranked archers / teams by "cutting" the field, as would normally be the case, we will instead grant the highest-ranked archers / teams a bye through the first round. (If necessary, we propose to extend the match schedule to allow for more than the usual limit of 64 individuals / 16 teams.)

Once the ranking round scores have been checked and sorted, each archer / team will be issued with an Olympic round scoresheet reflecting their ranking. This will specify when they are scheduled to shoot, and on which targets, for the remainder of the competition.

Competitors with a bye, or who are not involved in a particular stage of the competition (archers with compound bows at a time when only those with recurve bows are shooting, for example), may not shoot on the competition targets, but may use the practice targets.

INDIVIDUAL HEAD-TO-HEAD (Saturday)

There will be four categories: men and women, shooting recurve or compound bows. (Within each category, all archers will compete together regardless of age.)

The Elimination rounds are 18-arrow matches, shot as 3 ends of 6 arrows in 4 minutes. The two opponents for each match will shoot on the same target, with all competitors shooting simultaneously in a single detail.

The Finals rounds are 12-arrow matches, shot as 4 ends of 3 arrows. Each match will be shot with one archer per target, with his or her opponent shooting on the target alongside. In the Quarter-Finals, the competition is shot in timed ends of 2 minutes, simultaneously in a single detail as before. In the Semi-Finals and Medal Finals matches, competitors instead shoot one arrow at a time in turn, with each match individually timed by a judge. The first archer has 40 seconds to shoot his or her first arrow. As soon as that archer has shot, the match judge indicates the start of the second archer's 40-second shooting period. The archers continue to alternate their shots in this fashion until each has shot 3 arrows.

If the archers' scores are tied (without considering the number of hits, 10s and Xs) at the end of a match, one or more single-arrow shoot-off(s) will be used to break the ties. If the archers' shoot-off arrows score the same, each shoots a second. If those again score the same, each shoots a third. If there is still a tie in the third shoot-off, the archer with the closer-to-the-centre arrow wins.

GNAS OPEN HEAD-TO-HEAD TOURNAMENTS
Lilleshall NSC — Saturday 28th / Sunday 29th June 2003

COMPETITION FORMAT (2)

TEAM HEAD-TO-HEAD (Sunday)

In our first Olympic round team head-to-head competition, in 2002, we made some minor adjustments to the format set out in the FITA rules to make it more relevant to the domestic context. This experimental event proved such a success that we are repeating it on the same basis. We hope that archers will continue to treat it in the spirit intended: an opportunity to have fun and participate in an exciting form of competition.

Team composition

Olympic round teams comprise three archers. Normally there would be four categories, as for the individual head-to-head, but to deepen the match-play schedule there will just be two divisions: archers shooting recurve bows, and archers shooting compound bows. (Within each division, all archers will compete together regardless of age or gender.)

Team allocation

To make the competition more exciting, we will allocate archers to teams of roughly similar combined standard (based on their track record / expected performance at 70m, plus a hint of randomness). This policy should ensure that all entrants will have the opportunity to participate in a reasonably competitive team on the day, whether or not they have a chance to identify prospective team-mates in advance.

We hope to have sufficient stand-by archers (drawn from the work party, if necessary!) available in case we need to make up either division's final team to a full complement.

To give them a chance to get to know each other's shooting styles, the resulting teams will shoot together on the same target during the ranking round. Because the format and protocol is likely to be unfamiliar to many entrants, and the time limit is unusually tight, we will also make time available for competitors to practice shooting together as an Olympic round team before the head-to-head stage commences.

In order to allow as much time as possible for notification of withdrawals, late entries, etc. — all of which require the team allocation process to be repeated from scratch — team / target allocations will not be issued until the evening of Saturday 28th June 2003.

Team matches

The Team Elimination and Team Finals rounds are all 27-arrow matches, shot as 3 ends of 9 arrows (3 per team member) in 3 minutes. Each match will be shot with one team per target, with their opponents shooting on the target alongside.

Of a team's three archers, only one may occupy the shooting line at any time, while the other two remain behind a line marked 1m behind the shooting line. When moving forward to shoot, competitors may not remove their arrows from their quivers until they are on the shooting line. The time clock runs continuously during shooting and changing. Team members may shoot in any sequence, and may shoot 1, 2 or 3 arrows each time they are on the shooting line.

The tight time limit creates the tension and excitement of an "interactive" team event. One waiting archer could spot arrows, for example, while the other could give the shooter advice about the wind, or coaching information, or be preparing him or herself to shoot.

In Team Elimination rounds, all teams shoot simultaneously with an unbroken 3-minute period in which to complete each 3×3-arrow end. At this event, the Team Semi-Finals matches will also be shot in this manner. For the Team Medal Finals matches, however, competing teams instead shoot 3-arrow segments in turn. Each team is timed separately, their clock stopping when their archer steps behind the 1m-line after shooting the final arrow of that segment. The other team's clock then starts (or resumes) counting down. The teams alternate in this fashion until each has shot 9 arrows or their time has expired.

If the teams' scores are tied (without considering the number of hits, 10s and Xs) at the end of a match, one or more three-arrow (one per team member) team shoot-off(s) will be used to break the ties. If the teams' shoot-off arrows yield the same total score, each shoots a second set. If those again score the same total, each shoots a third set. If there is still a tie in the third shoot-off, the team with the closest-to-the-centre arrow wins.
