TEAM COMPOSITION AND ALLOCATION

Olympic round teams comprise three archers. Normally there would be four categories, but to deepen the match-play schedule at this event there were just two divisions: archers shooting recurve bows, and archers shooting compound bows. (Within each division, all archers competed together regardless of age or gender.)

So that everyone would be able to shoot in the team head-to-head element, we also extended the match schedule (rather than “cutting” to 16 teams, as should strictly be the case), with the highest-ranked teams receiving a bye through the resulting  $1/16$  Elimination round.

To create as level a playing field as possible for the competition — and to make the team matches closer and more exciting — the organizing committee allocated archers to teams of roughly similar combined standard (based on their track record / anticipated 70m performance).

EXCEPTION: OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC TEAMS

Team GB members Naomi Folkard, Helen Palmer and Alison Williamson and GB Paralympic Team members Anita Chapman, Maggie Parker and Kathy Smith had asked whether it might be possible for them to shoot together as part of their preparation for the team events at the Athens 2004 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Given the high profile and importance of these events, the organizing committee were keen to support them in this way; see “HANDICAPPING THE “DREAM TEAM”” for details of how we tried to avoid unbalancing the competition unduly while accommodating their requests.

RECURVE TEAMS

HANDICAPPING THE "DREAM TEAM"

While keen to accommodate our Olympic and Paralympic teams' requests, the organizing committee were concerned not to unbalance the competition unduly as a result. (Indeed, the prospect of an 'unbeatable' so-called "Dream Team" was the very reason that we decided to allocate archers to teams at these team head-to-head competitions, so as not to discourage any potential entrants.)

In the case of the GB Paralympic Team, their combined standard was close enough to that anticipated for recurve teams — slightly weaker, if anything — that we foresaw no problems including them as a team.

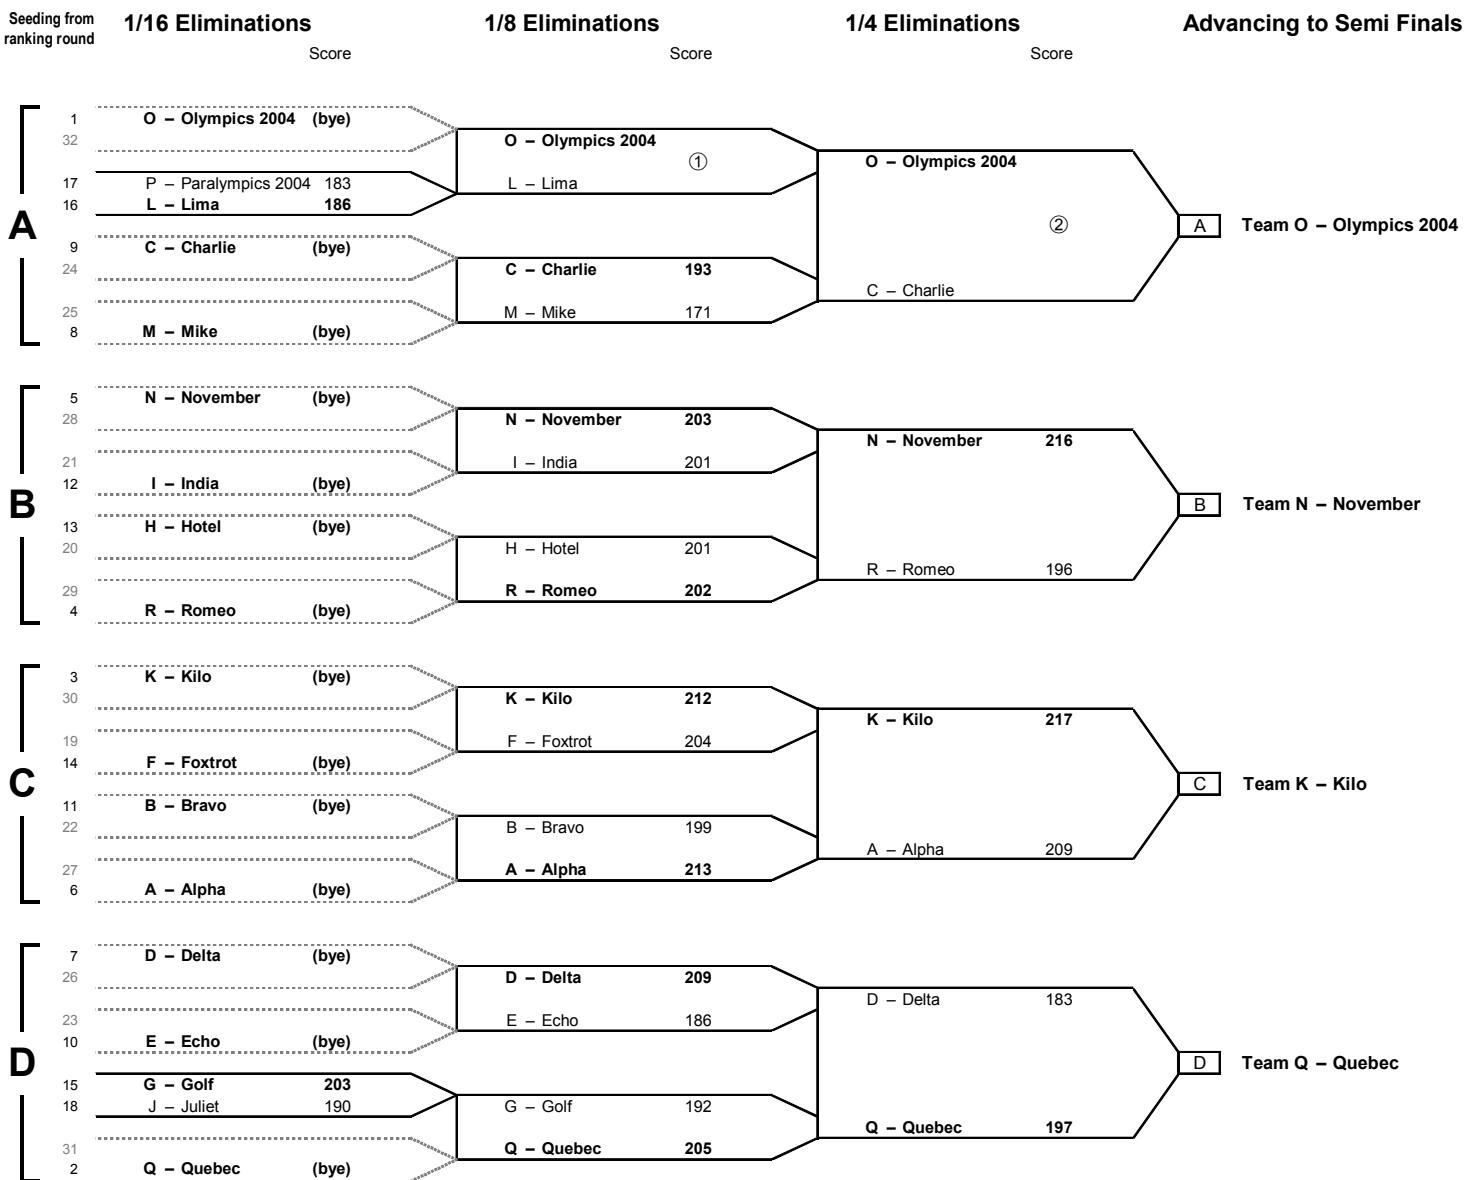

It was clear, on the other hand, that the Team GB members would be considerably stronger than the 'average' recurve team. (Indeed, on the day they proved stronger than the best three other recurve archers!) After examining various alternatives, we eventually decided to handicap them down to the level of the best of the allocated teams.

On the day, this meant awarding their opponents 18 points per match (fed in as six points per end so that both teams and onlookers would have a fair sense of the match situation). Recognizing that this might put our Olympic archers in the impossible position that even a perfect performance would prove insufficient if their opponents scored highly enough, we gave them the chance to reclaim some of their handicap through the extra incentive of a bonus point for each X they scored (up to a maximum of the 18 they were being handicapped, of course).

As can be seen from the match results, these adjustments made their head-to-head matches far more competitive — one match was tied, and the margin of another was just a single point. (Along the way, three of their four opponents outscored them on at least one end.)
